The first of these is the fact that the system is not a simple one, but a complex one, involving many factors which are not yet fully understood.
 The second is that the system is not a static one, but a dynamic one, which is constantly changing and evolving. The third is that the system is not a uniform one, but a heterogeneous one, with many different parts and components.
 The fourth is that the system is not

Handwritten text in a cursive script, likely a historical document or manuscript. The text is written in a dark ink on aged, slightly discolored paper. It consists of several lines of dense, flowing script, with some larger, possibly decorative or initial letters. The handwriting is characteristic of a historical cursive style, possibly from the 16th or 17th century. There are some small, dark spots or stains on the paper, particularly in the middle section.

Handwritten text, possibly a title or section header, centered on the page. It appears to be a single line of text, possibly in a different script or a specific dialect, given its unique characters and structure.
